Yes, We Do Need Industry Here

(First of a Series)

Often it has been said "Andover needs more industry".
With that statement we wholeheartedly agree.

Yet, before outlining the reasons we believe are valid arguments for additional industry here, may we point out this little-known fact:

Andover has been a well-balanced industrial-residential community.

The State Department of Commerce publishes a monograph which clearly points out that a fair balance of industry to residences has been maintained here during years past.

So the matter of needing new industry is not an old, often-debated problem. Rather, it is something a little new to most men and women in the town. Yet despite its newness, it is perhaps more pressing than any other single problem now facing the community.

The once-favorable balance is being destroyed by the torrential rush into our residential areas. Dwellings are being constructed in these areas at such a rapid rate that the town is hard pressed to keep up with extensions of routine services demanded by new residents.

To make matters more difficult, newcomers to the town are also building in areas once considered farm or pas-

Barking Dog Scares Horse, Girl Hurt

Deborah Smith, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. Smith, 20 Johnson rd., was knocked down by a horse at the Harold Parker state forest, when a dog frightened the animal.

The accident happened July 7, when Miss Smith was enjoying a ride. It was reported that she dismounted because the horse was nervous, but the animal reared again when the dog returned to the scene barking, knocking her down.

The young lady was taken to the Lawrence General hospital after she reportedly blacked out after reaching home. She was treated for possible back injuries and released.

Again, in your home as in your business property, deterioration may be setting in. It will eventually cost you many times the low cost of a loan made now. Improve your house to make it a real home - a good investment of itself and one that will add to your enjoyment as well.

If you need any improvement whatsoever or addition to your business property or to your home, get an estimate from your contractor on the cost and see us about its financing.

The cost of such a loan is only $5 a year for each $100 borrowed. Deal locally with local bankers and local contractors. You will get the best of service and be well satisfied when the job is done.

Colorful Hat Show At Playground

An imaginative display of fashion was shown at the Shawsheen playground July 7 in the form of a hat show.

The honor of having the prettiest hat in the show went to Jean Blamire, who had patterned her chapeau after the type made famous by Carmen Miranda. Thelma Watson's hat took second prize for the prettiest and third prize was won by Cynthia Turton.

The contestants really let their imaginations run wild when they created their hats to be judged for first place in the funniest class. Andy Daly won first

In the most original class, first prize was won by Joanne Blamire, second by Susan Miller and third by Karen Ingenthron. Elizabeth Townsend won a red ribbon for having the biggest hat in the show. The judges awarded a tie for the smallest hat in the show to Barbara and Elinor Santuccio.

The guests were entertained by a group of party games and, amid a large display of balloons, the youngsters were served birthday cake, ice cream and tonic.

Those present at the party included Jean Blamire, Paula Nigrelli, Nancy Lavin, Joanne Blamire, Joseph Bresnahan, Barbara Santuccio, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Herlihy and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bresnahan.

Miss Nutton, who is well known locally as an excellent horsewoman, has complete charge of teaching and supervision in this department.

Ball Team Wins

The Shawsheen Village nine reversed last week's score, edging out an Indian Ridge team, 6-5, at Central playground Tuesday.

Herb Sullivan, coach of the Shawsheen playground team, rearranged his batting order and, as a result, had his hits very well grouped which proved the downfall of the Indian Ridge team.

Geoffrey Davis, Shawsheen's ace hurler, pitched five and two-thirds innings before tiring. He was relieved by Tony Leonardi, who came in and quickly put out the fire. The Village team had a big third inning, with five runs crossing the plate.

Walter Bleszinski, the third baseman, was the leading hitter, getting two for three. Thomas Lebach starred in his catching assignment.

The umpire was Fred Polgreen.

ture land — where such municipal services as sewers, water, drainage are almost entirely inadequate. As the demand for residential property grows, so will these outskirts areas, until they are fully settled.

But the town's problem continues to expand, for there will be continuing requests for major services in these areas where installation costs will normally be greater than is the case with short extensions in more settled areas.

Municipal expenses, then, will continue to grow at a rapid rate.

Who will pay the bills?

Already, the taxpayers in Andover are realizing that real estate taxes must go up to pay for these new services. They know, also, that major repair projects, new school construction and other items add their share to the town's expenses. The $6 increase in this year's tax rate is proof that the homeowner and industry are already paying more. And the boom is only in its infancy.

An estimate last week by Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton indicated a rise in next year's tax rate. The 1957 rate could go up sharply again, his figures pointed out. These increases are caused by three major, 1955 projects — a new high school, major drainage projects and an addition to one school. We will be paying for them for years. What of the countless other major projects that must come?

The school board will certainly recommend new schools in the immediate future — and no thinking individual will be able to deny the need. But they will debate the means to pay before going ahead.

The board of public works is swamped with drainage problems, many resulting from families settling in areas where drainage systems were heretofore unneeded. Other parts of the system are now inadequate and will require attention. Again, the need will be obvious — the means to pay obscure.

There almost certainly will be a new town house, although this project perhaps is in the more distant future. But it is coming and most persons see it looming ahead. Again, where does the money come from?

Outside the realm of major projects, we must also face the truth regarding town departments.

As the town grows, so must they. There will be added departmental costs all along the line. Certainly we will need greater fire and police protection; there must be an expanded public works department and the number of persons in municipal offices will increase. For these things, too, we must pay.

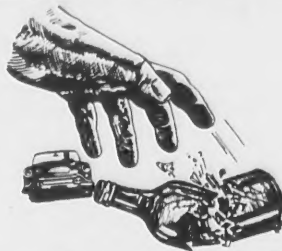

How will we pay?

The homeowner, considering this question, shudders at the thoughts of future tax bills. While most are satisfied to pay their fair share of municipal expenses, they do not enjoy the prospect of steadily increasing tax bills. Apart from their desires, however, is the major point requiring serious consideration — when will they be unable to pay any more?

When that point is reached, and for some it can come sooner than for others, then we will have to retrench, abandon plans for major projects and simply pay for those already undertaken on long-term bond issues.

It is a commonly-known fact that a rapid increase in residences does not bring financial stability to a town — nor will it here. Newcomers as well as old settlers will reach a saturation point when they no longer can pay for growing municipal services and major improvement projects. In fact, these items cost far more than the new taxes bring in each year.

Thus we face squarely up to the problem — who can pay for the service and improvements? The answer is, we can — with the help of industry.

The Punched class of 1903 held its first reunion at the school hall last Friday, with 30 persons present.

A local lad almost lost an eye when a cannon cracker exploded too close to him last Tuesday.

Many persons saw the large bonfire, 20 feet in diameter and 30 feet high; the horribles parade, sports, fireworks and band concert held here over the Fourth of July.

The Rev. J. Edgar Parks of West Parish sailed for England last Tuesday. He will visit his parents in Belfast, Ireland.

A strawberry festival sponsored by the Christian Endeavor society in the Osgood district was a huge success.

25 Years Ago — July 1930

A Fourth of July program at the Ballardvale playground was a big success. The 'Vale team beat a Shawsheen baseball team, 8-3. Many persons turned out for a horribles parade and a big bonfire.

The fourth in a series of six whist parties will be held tonight in K. of C. hall. It is sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America 783, Court St. Monica.

The Fourth this year was the quietest in many years, with only one arrest, light traffic and no false alarms. Firemen stood by all night before the holiday but were given nothing to do.

An unidentified man was hauled from the Merrimack river in West Andover last Tuesday, but it appeared he had been in the water for a long time. Police said he might be a man who lived in a shack near the river.

The Mother's club held a garden party Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Dumont, So. Main st.

Exhaustive Tests Are Continuing On Clark Brook

No report has yet been issued on the status of Clark's brook in Ballardvale.

The state apparently is completing extensive tests of the water samples taken there, according to Dr. William V. Emmons, chairman of the board of health.

He explained that the tests are exhaustive and include attempts to grow bacteria in the water under various conditions.

It had been charged that the water was polluted, particularly in the summer months.

Some Enter System

Although many homes in the Clark brook area have not yet hooked into the town sewer system, several have done so in the past 10 days. Residents who can attach their plumbing to the municipal system have until Jan. 1, 1956 to do so voluntarily, according to state law. The board of health can then force the homeowner to connect if the board feels that conditions warrant such action.

NO STATE AID FOR SHAWSHEEN ADDITION

state school building assistance commission late last week.

State aid is promised, however, for the West school addition, she declared. Plans for that work were presented to the commission and were approved with minor changes, she explained.

No Aid

An official of that commission said flatly that there would be no aid if the plans are followed for a four-room addition to the Shawsheen school, she reported. That opinion bore out comments at last week's school committee meeting at which the architects recommended building a new school instead of the addition.

Miss Greeley pointed out that the state commission can't prevent the addition from being built if the local school authorities decide to do so. But the entire cost is then borne by the town, she said.

Architects Estimate

The architects, estimating repair figures to the Shawsheen school itself, said it would cost some $110,000 before the addition could be built. They included new lighting to correct below-minimum conditions now prevailing, a new heating-exhaust system for exchange of air inside the building; repairing the interior and redecorating.

Added to that basic cost, the architects said, would be the $85,000 addition — a total of $195,000.

The state would probably pay about 25 percent of the cost of a new 13-room school, the architects said. It would cost about $400,000 they estimated. Thus, the architects explained, the town could have a school for $100,000 above what it will now cost to properly add the four rooms.

Whether the school committee will vote to abandon plans for the addition is yet unknown. Miss Greeley said the sub-committee on school needs and planning is waiting for a report from the architects. They agreed, at the last meeting, to survey school needs in Ballardvale and to look over a couple prospective sites for new schools serving both the Shawsheen, Ballardvale and center portion of town.

Town Meeting

"By the first of the year", she explained "we'll have to have plans so that we can prepare articles for the town warrant".

The possibility of a special town meeting, however, was not ruled out. She explained that a special meeting would be requested if enough time could be saved by so doing.

To build a new school in time for September, 1956, she said, might require action well before the March town meetings. There is also a possibility that even the extra four or five months would not allow time enough to have the school ready which might make it unnecessary to have the earlier meeting after all, she explained.

The timing of the project will be a subject for the sub-committee to study, she indicated. Supt. Erickson has said that the Shawsheen school can carry the load

DECISION TONIGHT ON $18,000 FUND

ee, explained that the board has carefully considered all suggestions for spending the money and will discuss them at the meeting tonight.

The funds are the balance of a war-time account raised by citizens. Money was used to purchase Christmas gifts and various tokens of the town's respect for servicemen on appropriate holidays and birthdays.

Suggested Use

It has been suggested that the money be used towards a home for all four veterans' posts. Another suggestion has been to establish some sort of scholarship fund for veterans' children.

Miss Greeley has pointed out that the trustees wish to be certain that the money is used wisely and to its best advantage before approving any expenditures.

Public Meeting

She also has told veterans that a public meeting will be held sometime after tonight's closed discussion, at which heads of various veterans' organizations and any other veterans may appear. The trust agreement under which the money is held provides that all veterans in Andover shall vote on the proposed expenditures. However, the agreement also allows the trustees to modify provisions of the trust, so that a poll of all veterans may not be necessary. She has pointed out that there might be much difficulty in obtaining a response from a majority of veterans.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

The Tigers will meet the second-place C.Y.O. team next Monday night at the Playstead. Tigers are in third position.

Tuesday night, it will be the fourth-place Dodgers against the league-leading Browns.

The Tigers beat the Dodgers
6-2, July 7 while the C.Y.O. team humbled the Dodgers 3-0 last Monday night.

Team standings are Browns,
3-0; C.Y.O., 2-2, Tigers, 1-2 and Dodgers, 1-3.

Better Police Protection In Shawsheen Sq.

Concern over police protection in Shawsheen after automatic traffic lights are installed was dispelled this week.

Police Chief David Nicoll said a cruiser has been operating in the Shawsheen area for two weeks, giving greater coverage than did the patrolman in the square, who was held there by traffic problems.

Chief Nicoll said a policeman will be on hand during school sessions to protect the youngsters as they cross to and from classes.

Some residents of Shawsheen had expressed concern that there would be less protection when the new lights are completed.

HILTON APPOINTED NEW FIRE CHIEF

HENRY L. HILTON

bationary basis "but he'll prove his worth, I think". He pointed out that the job is on a tenure basis although it is not a civil service position.

Mr. Hilton will succeed the late C. Edward Buchan who died unexpectedly several weeks ago.

Call For Exam

The selectmen will immediately call for a civil service examination for two deputy chiefs, Mr. Collins stated. He explained that the board has decided to increase the number of deputies to three. Albert Cole Jr. is the only permanent deputy now on duty in the fire department. John W. Crowley is an acting-deputy, in charge of a platoon.

Chief Hilton was appointed to the force in January, 1946. Three years later, in July, 1949, he was named one of two deputy chiefs after successfully competing in an examination.

A combat Marine veteran, Chief Hilton had four years service in the Pacific during World War II and was called back for duty during the Korean war.

A resident of 182 Shawsheen rd., Chief Hilton is married and is the father of two children.

Taken Many Courses

During his professional career, he has taken many courses in fire-fighting and lifesaving. Since the death of Chief Buchan, he has been in charge of one platoon at the fire station.

Unanimous Decision

Chief Hilton's appointment was unanimous "after some discussion", Selectman Collins explained.

Appointment in Fall

He said he would write immediately to the state civil service commission in regards to an examination for deputy chief. One will be needed to replace Hilton and there will be a new position created.

Mr. Collins said he doubts whether there will be an appointment before fall, because there are so many details concerning setting up the examination, grading it, appeal times granted by the state and other details.

Sparks Resigns

The selectmen also accepted the resignation of Firefighter Kerr E. Sparks, during the Monday meeting. They expressed regret at the resignation, which reportedly results from ill health.
